Form of introduction

"My name is X. I'm from Essex/London University. We're preparing a report (writing a book) about standards of living in Britain today and how families manage. We think it's important for the Government and everyone else to know what the facts really are. We're hoping to talk to about 3,000 families throughout the country and I'd be very grateful if you could help us by answering some questions. All our information is, of course, strictly confidential."

This family has virtually no accommodation. They live with the husband's mother 3152 312. They sleep on a studio couch in the living room which is used by the whole of a large family, and is only thinly divided from the kitchen by a curtain. During the day the wife goes down to her mother's with the baby as much as possible, and the husband says he gets out as much as he can. I'm not sure how to code this + the other household who live here, since neither has the use of the downstairs rooms. I've pencilled in the rooms in the other questionnaire.

This family has had a rough time. They started in a tiny flat at £4 a week. Then moved into a house sub let by a woman. She subsequently sold the house & they had to move. In their new house there was a disastrous week of cold weather, which burst all the pipes, when the baby was only a week old, & they came straight here. They've been on the council list nearly 2 yrs (this August) & the housing officials keep coming down & saying they can't continue like this, which he takes to mean that they they will get a house (but which may mean they'll be evicted).

difficult to get across the idea. Husband thought they were saving the rent.
 ?£2.0M.

This section a failure for this family. I was pretty sure there must be some exchange, but I was not able to discover any, & the son found the question embarrassing.

QUESTION 23 Poor now

Stress genuinely and try to avoid facetiousness at this point. Question 23 (a) explores what the informant understands by feeling "poor". If the word "poor" seems inappropriate use the alternative "very hard up".

QUESTION 24 Poverty

Stress the word "poverty". Do not explain what you think it means if you are asked. Seek from the informant his definition and write it in the box as clearly as you can.

QUESTION 25 Voting

Ask for those old enough to have voted in the last election (March 1965). We are not concerned who they voted for (although they will probably say) but would like to know if they are sufficiently involved to vote at all. Be careful to reassure people that this is confidential and as far as you are concerned non-voting is blameless—many people consider that voting is legally compulsory or morally obligatory and so voting figures are over-estimated. Try to get a clear recollection by fixing the incident (time of day, who they went with) if necessary. Stress National, not local elections.

QUESTION 26 Action on poverty

We are interested in what the informant thinks can be done. Give as full an answer as possible.

Please write in any additional notes.

A real "Cathy" situation. Very vulnerable family. No resources of education or skill. Dependent on the employment situation in the labouring jobs with no security. Husband was baffled as to why the work situation wasn't picking up even though it's summer. Housing precarious, although they have a hope of a council house.

Says he wouldn't go on N.A. Went once & they only gave him 1/- and treated him like dirt "as if they didn't like doing the job." He said "I'd rather steal something first."
