QUESTION 23 Poor now

Stress genuinely and try to avoid facetiousness at this point. Question 23 (a) explores what the informant understands by feeling "poor". If the word "poor" seems inappropriate use the alternative "very hard up".

QUESTION 24 Poverty

Stress the word "poverty". Do not explain what you think it means if you are asked. Seek from the informant his definition and write it in the box as clearly as you can.

QUESTION 25 Voting

Ask for those old enough to have voted in the last election (March 1965). We are not concerned who they voted for (although they will probably say) but would like to know if they are sufficiently involved to vote at all. Be careful to reassure people that this is confidential and as far as you are concerned non-voting is blameless—many people consider that voting is legally compulsory or morally obligatory and so voting figures are over-estimated. Try to get a clear recollection by fixing the incident (time of day, who they went with) if necessary. Stress National, not local elections.

QUESTION 26 Action on poverty

We are interested in what the informant thinks can be done. Give as full an answer as possible.

Please write in any additional notes.

24c.

In the case of O.A.P. its the Government's fault - they should provide more for them. In the young, its the fault of their education - family upbringing, which hasn't taught them to spend wisely.

I felt a bit puzzled by the lack of savings in this main case in view of father's alleged occupation. He said all his money had gone into the house, and I think this was true. E.g. - eight years ago they bought it for £2,875, the building society recently valued it at £6,000 - which is partly accounted for by general rise in price, but they certainly have made a great deal of the house.

~~That~~ V. cooperative pair - I think I believe him ~~the~~ about savings!

Pensioners should be allowed to earn more & higher pensions should be given. As for the young & idle - short of forcibly training them to spend wisely can't do much.
